Childcare and Caregiving during COVID – Tuesday June 23, 2020 @ 3 pm ET

Question	Answer	CPC Exchange
Sandra 03:21 PM This has been a stressful time for all health care workers and some of us have been worried about the consequences of contracting Covid because we have people we care for in the high-risk group. It would be devastating not to be able to be a caregiver or to pass along Covid to them knowing they are at greater complications. I really appreciate your clear and positive view about your number 1's. It's very helpful, but there certainly is a stigma.	Dr. Sandy Buchman Thank you. And you're right. the stigma still exists. That's why we have to initiate culture change in medicine/healthcare. Dr. Pamela Liao Absolutely. It starts with sessions like this one! Thanks for all who are making the time to be here.	If you'd like to continue this conversation head to the Canadian Palliative Care Exchange and create a discussion topic or contribute to a conversation already taking place. There is no cost to participate. Join now to share and learn alongside your colleagues from across Canada: www.cpcexchange.ca
Anonymous 03:42 PM If you had a toddler child in the high-risk category (i.e. T1D) would you put your child back in day-care? I realize this is a fairly specific question.	This question was answered in the webinar. Go to 42:40 in the recording.
Anonymous 03:55 PM What do you mean by working in different time zones?	This question was answered in the webinar. Go to 54:27 in the recording.
